writers block intensifies

hiiii.....

to my followers: i am SO SUPER SORRY for being gone for so long!! i just never had inspiration to write and after i lost interest in glitter force i couldn't have the inspiration to write it anymore and thanks for (probably) wanting to help me!

to new comers: hello, nice to meet you! thanks for (probably) wanting to help me!

as you can see this book is probably only gonna get updated when i need help with writers block but maybe i'll ask for help on something else for right now i need help on writers block since i have had it FOR A WHOLE YEAR

maybe even more than that!

i've been wanting to write a coinpin fanfic for the longest time but never started because
1. writers block
and
2. because i was scared that if i ended up starting the book that i'd lose inspiration on writing it and i don't want that to happen again as i don't want to disappoint my readers A SECOND TIME!

so if you're reading this, can you please help me create some kind of idea for a coinpin story?
if you don't know what coinpin is you probably don't know what bfdi is and if you don't that's okay, but i highly suggest you watch it if you never have before, it's on youtube when you first watch it, you might think that it's no good or something (that's what i thought when i first watched it) but trust me, it's worth it! it gets so much better once you watch it throughout the seasons!

thanks to anyone in advance if you decide to comment a recommendation about what i can write about!
bye!
~sam

edit: i got the help i needed! :>

procrastination

okay now if you guys have read my coinpin story then you can see that the new chapter is taking awhile to come out and it is because i am procrastinating guys if i do not update my fic by wednesday i need you to spam me telling me to stop procrastinating i feel like that will be the only way to get me to actually work on it...

I AM NOT ABANDONING THIS FIC LIKE THE LAST ONE AUGH

okay now, thanks for reading bye -sam